He made it clear in opening his remarks that he was not going to criticize the report, but to present the facts concerning the various points of the report, and to give the results which would be arrived at by the committee.

He said that some of our citizens as well as many of our public men were not satisfied with the report, and that he was going to examine their unsatisfied aspect of the report, and to see whether having first given the document careful and exhaustive study, he could support the report.

He then read the following list of names:

Foranuk, John
Gibson, David
Gregory, Mrs. Elizabeth
Guthrie, Miss K. W.
Hathorn, Adam C.
Henderson, James
Hill, James
Jones, Thomas
Kane, Mrs. Harriet Ellen Kane, Albert C.

WILLIAM TELL "GAME" FATAL TO YOUNG BOY

AYLMER, Que., Dec. 31.—(CP)—A young boy, who was playing with a rifle in the woods near his home, was shot through the head by a bullet from a rifle in the hands of a chum.

Ashlin was on a rabbit-hunt expedition with Gordon Granger, 15, when the tragedy occurred. The boy, who was shot through the head by a bullet from a rifle in the hands of a chum.

When they found no rabbits, the boys decided to play a game. Granger placed the "game" rifle on a stump and told Ashlin to take a large ball and fill it with the meat in Ashlin's head.

Peter who investigated the shooting said they learned that Granger, who was about 15 years old, placed the rifle on a stump and told Ashlin to take a large ball and fill it with the meat in Ashlin's head.

The boy was rushed to a doctor's office in Aylmer, then to a hospital in Ottawa where he died a short time later.

An inquest was opened in Ottawa by Dr. M. C. Barry last night, when adjournment was taken until Jan. 2.

French Message

VICHY, Dec. 31.—(AP)—Gen. C. Huntziger, minister of war, in a new message to the French people, said that the French people were fighting against a "Siamese" threat along the Indo-China frontier. He said that the French people were fighting against a "Siamese" threat along the Indo-China frontier.

ON THE RECORD

who have definitely broken faith with it, drawing sorrow in trust and affection to all men of good will.

We must definitely put personal considerations aside, being devotedly to bear whatever economic sacrifices are required that do not cut into the maintenance of a modestly decent living. Above all, those of us who are most concerned about the future of our country, must be at the forefront of the struggle.

The United American Workers' union forward with its efforts for the benefit of this country.

Briefly, they insist that there exists at the present moment a real economic machine, which must be retooled for aviation purposes, instead of waiting for the machine to be built and then being used in the same way.

The fact that the automotive factories are working in some instances, only to 50 per cent of capacity, and that there are thousands of skilled tool and die makers who are either unemployed or part time or are on ordinary machine-tooling production jobs, is a demand for a more equal representation from government and industry.

That organized labor becomes interested in and promotes a more rapid and efficient production in any industry is good news.

The greater the responsibility given labor, the greater the willingness to labor to plan advanced by them for more efficient production.

The more quickly will be ironed out and the more quickly will be ironed out and the more quickly will be ironed out.

It has some questions in the past.

New York Stocks

NEW YORK, Dec. 31.—(AP)—Wall Street "Happy New Year" greetings were heard in the market today as the 1940 year was entered from a gloomy winter mood.

In the three-hour session, the market was characterized by a steady decline in the start, resulting in a net loss of 1.14 points. The market closed on a lower note.

Review Of Canada's 1940 Economic Conditions Is Given By C.P.R. Chief

By SIR EDWARD BEATTY, G.B.E., K.C., LL.D.
Chairman of Board, Canadian Pacific Railway

In an important particular the pattern of the Canadian railway situation of today differs markedly from that which existed during the war which commenced in 1914. The outbreak of that struggle found the country in possession of one completed and solvent railway system—the Canadian Pacific Railway, and it was only as the war progressed that it was possible to coordinate the services of the other Canadian railways with this, in such a way as to give the country an efficient transportation machine.

At the opening of the present struggle Canada possessed two separate railway systems—largely parallel and duplicate, and one of the products of a long period of heavy expenditures of public funds. But, however, were completed several units, and in a position to carry the load of effort imposed by our life and death struggle with a potential foe.

In the intervening time since 1918 Canada has made tremendous progress. Double mainline duplication, population has increased steadily, and the industrial effort has extended in every direction and all lines of production have been stimulated and made gains, while our markets abroad, on the outbreak of war, were severely restricted. On top of this comes another war, which has brought us to a time when we are faced with increased demands for transportation, all of which have to be met with the same limited resources.

Public welfare and wartime exigencies make it obligatory that a table of this effort should not be published abroad, with the result that we must not be able to estimate it, and it is difficult to understand, but it is significant that at a time when we are facing increased demands for transportation, all of which have to be met with the same limited resources. Public welfare and wartime exigencies make it obligatory that a table of this effort should not be published abroad, with the result that we must not be able to estimate it, and it is difficult to understand, but it is significant that at a time when we are facing increased demands for transportation, all of which have to be met with the same limited resources.

HIGHER EFFICIENCY
This satisfactory situation has not been brought about by reason of vast expenditures of money on bygone efforts and equipment. Higher standards of efficiency in all departments of railway service have been maintained, and the behavior and better paid hands and more efficient management have been the result of the increased demands for transportation, all of which have to be met with the same limited resources.

We have an unshakable faith in the ultimate victory of the cause for which we are fighting. We are no less certain of the length of time it will take us to achieve this victory, but we do know that, in a not unimportant measure, that period of time will be long or short according to our war effort here in Canada. We are no less certain of the length of time it will take us to achieve this victory, but we do know that, in a not unimportant measure, that period of time will be long or short according to our war effort here in Canada.

As the country's war effort progresses, the demands on the transportation system will become more exacting. Orders for war material will be given, and the demands of Canada and the United States will be met. There has been a steady expansion in the production of war material, and the demands of Canada and the United States will be met.

Faith in Ability

I have every faith in the country's ability to bear the economic burden of war, added to those already imposed on us by a certain participation in public expenditure, going back over many years. During the war we shall expect without stint and cheerfully, and I have not the least doubt of the ability of the thousands of the people of the country to bear the burden of war.

This Is Nancy ...

This is the little girl around the corner, the child across the street, the youngster you met at the lake last summer. This is your own little girl. This is tomorrow's Canada and she has faith in you.

You can read the future clear and bright in her eyes. Every steam whistle that blows, every wheel that turns, the telephone jangling in the living room, the printer's ink on this page, the fire siren in the night, your shoes, your books, your church and your Bibles—all were made and built and woven and put together that Nancy might have a future. And you your hopes and dreams.

She is the living link between you and your tomorrows, and for her you've lived all your yesterdays. You're getting old and a little tired, maybe. Your mirror tells you you're troubled. There've been times when you've made a sorry mess of things, and the goals you worked for, so many, many of them, are as stardust in the morning.

But you know it doesn't matter. Nancy stands clear-eyed and strong with the high courage of a million tomorrows for the spawning. Life to her is not a never-never land, and hers can be a better day on earth for your having shared it with her.

This little girl... all little girls and boys, these are Canada's future. These are the promise of a better world. Their future is yours, too. You can live, build, work, be happy for them and through them. You will go on having faith in yourself because they have faith in you.

We of the BAY—300 strong—take this opportunity of voicing our faith in the future of our city, our nation and the Empire!

We Wish You Happiness and Prosperity in 1941

New British Equipment Knock Nazi Night Raiders Out Of Sky Before Spring

By FRANK FLAHERTY

OTTAWA, Dec. 31.—(CP)—Equipment now being produced in Britain which will knock Germany's night raiders out of the sky at such a rate the Nazis will have to abandon that method of attack before spring, Air Chief Marshal Sir Hugh Dowding told a group of newspapermen here Monday.

SOCIAL UNIT CONCLUDING ACTIVE YEAR

Extensive Service Given by Organization Starting
In 1939

Organized in October, 1939, the Edmonton Council of Social Agencies has had an extremely busy year during the past twelve months, as the member bodies, now numbering 41, working under the central office, opened in February last, marked a new, co-ordinated effort in a high peak.

Establishment of four divisions in the organization, concerned with public health, family welfare, child welfare, and group work, was part of the year's work, and each division has given a new impetus to the progress of their work.

WIDE PROGRAM

Classes for young mothers, provision of education in the field of nutrition, and the establishment of a layette exchange, in addition to the health division, which is also in charge of a survey of the housing conditions in Edmonton.

Relief and service to families

was handled by the family welfare division, which also concerned itself with the Christmas exchange. The child welfare division provided parent-teacher clinics and installed a circulating library service for children's institutions.

NO OVERLAPPING

To avoid overlapping, five exchanges were established by the council during 1940. A social service exchange, with an index of over 3,000 Edmonton families needing aid, a rural social exchange to provide for the needs of the Christmas and camp exchange, and a layette exchange.

SOFT WATER

APPROPRIATE CITY STATES

City commissioners stated Tuesday that there had been an almost complete absence of complaint concerning Edmonton's soft water supply.

Only complaint made has been from persons who alleged the soft water had caused chipping of the teeth. This was investigated and it was found that in all probability the tooth chipping was the result of many hundreds of residents having changed to the new soft water.

ABBOTT SEES PROSPECT FOR BART'S SUCCESS

Exhibition Shows Profit Of $10,310 For Operations
Of 1940

Prediction that the 1941 summer fair would be as successful as that of last year was made by P. W. Abbott, K.C., managing director of the Edmonton Exhibition Association, when presenting his annual report to the shareholders at the annual general meeting of the association held Monday afternoon at the city chamber of commerce.

Mr. Abbott in reporting a profit of $10,310 on the 1940 operations of the association said that he was not an organization of its kind in western Canada that had maintained the average profit of $10,000 annually on operations over the past nine years.

In presenting his report Mr. Abbott reviewed the association's financial record from 1932 to 1940, showing that during that period $183,000 had been collected in gate receipts, $139,384 in grandstand receipts, $13,934 in midday takings and $20,674 in entry fees. Receipts from the sale of food, drink, and other concessions, and sundry receipts, amounted to $100,462, he added.

During the 1940 year period, he continued, $48,747.40 had been paid out in salaries, $10,000 in advertising, and $10,000 in other expenses. The net profit was $10,310.

Mr. Abbott pointed out the fact that the association's balance sheet showed a surplus of $10,310. This, he stated, had been converted into a surplus of $10,310 for the year.

In extension of one year has been granted to the city of Edmonton by the city council for the term of the city police force. Capt. W. E. Watson, utility inspector, and Mrs. E. S. Squire, Edmonton public library staff.

PRESENTATION

Miss Squire, who has been with the library board for 27 years, was presented with a certificate of appreciation by the board Monday in recognition of her long service to the city.

INSURANCE GROUP OF A.C.S.A. HAS DINNER MEETING

Members of the provincial executive of the Alberta Citizens' Service Association were guests of honor at a dinner meeting of the life insurance group, and to G. W. McLeod, treasurer of the provincial association.

Relief and service to families

was handled by the family welfare division, which also concerned itself with the Christmas exchange. The child welfare division provided parent-teacher clinics and installed a circulating library service for children's institutions.

NO OVERLAPPING

To avoid overlapping, five exchanges were established by the council during 1940. A social service exchange, with an index of over 3,000 Edmonton families needing aid, a rural social exchange to provide for the needs of the Christmas and camp exchange, and a layette exchange.

SOFT WATER

APPROPRIATE CITY STATES

City commissioners stated Tuesday that there had been an almost complete absence of complaint concerning Edmonton's soft water supply.

Heavy Snowfall

Cushions Hills: Pleases Skiers

Looking forward to New Year's with an added zest, skiers are expected to find the snowfall Monday evening, city sportsmen prepared to enjoy the day. And there is no reason why they shouldn't enjoy themselves since the forecast for the change in temperature. Total overnight snowfall was 18 inches.

Fire In Garage

Fire shortly after noon Monday caused considerable damage to a garage of John McWhorter, 907 16th street. The fire was caused by an overheated radiator.

Serious Crime At Low Ebb In Edmonton During Year City Police Reports Show

The year 1940 faded into the misty oblivion of the past in Edmonton, with the preceding 12 months marked as a low-shooting period with serious crime at low ebb.

The year also saw the Edmonton police department go modern in a big way, with obsolete trunk radio equipment of the very latest type installed. Four patrol cars, with new radios, and a quartet of motor-cycles with receiving sets, went into the streets. The year also saw the Edmonton police department go modern in a big way, with obsolete trunk radio equipment of the very latest type installed.

Two deaths, with strong suspicion of murder, were recorded but both remained a mystery after a post-mortem investigation. In each case a man died after being assaulted by a person or persons who had been in the house.

In the case of one, John Kelly, an Irishman, who was found dead in his own home on 30 street, a man was arrested and charged with murder. He was dismissed at the conclusion of a preliminary hearing held in court.

Two deaths occurred in the month of July. There were eight fatal deaths during the year, a decrease over the previous year when there were 13 killed in street accidents. Three were killed in street accidents during the year.

A crime with the Sheriff Holmes touch was the $8,000 theft robbery of the City of Edmonton and the subsequent recovery of the loot by the police. The robbery occurred early in the year.
